James O. Eastland Elected United States Senator From Mississippi

Defeats Senator Wall Doney by 17,000 Majority—Senator Doney Congratulates Victor—Both Issue Statements—County Votes Doney 885—Eastland 156

The election for United States Senator in Mississippi was brought to a conclusion on Tuesday, with Hon. James O. Eastland defeating Senator Wall Doney by a majority of over 17,000 votes.

In Hancock County, Senator Wall Doney received a very handsome majority. The complete vote from the county gave Senator Doney, 885 votes to Mr. Eastland's 156.

Mr. Eastland carried 61 of the 82 counties, and one county, Oktibbeha, was tied, each of the candidates receiving 794 votes.

Immediately following the tabulation of the returns, Senator Doney extended congratulations to his distinguished opponent and issued the following statement:

"The people of Mississippi have spoken. As a good Democrat, I graciously bow to the will of the electorate. I have congratulated my successful opponent and have pledged to Mr. Eastland my unreserved and wholehearted co-operation. I have a heart-full of gratitude for all that my many friends have done for me and I shall never forget the many acts of kindness shown to me. We have made a hard fight, we have kept the faith and we will have no ill-will toward anyone.

"The scars of the campaign will soon heal and I shall continue to serve during the remaining days of my term as senator with the same zeal and fidelity that I have in the past.

"It is an unusual privilege to be elected to the United States Senate and regardless of what the future holds for me, my people of Mississippi have been most wonderful to me, and I would be unworthy of the trust and confidence that they have evidenced in me if I did not give my very best as a public official and a private citizen.

Urges Cooperation

"I am fully conscious of the grave responsibilities facing our Congress and our country and I shall continue to serve and work in the same spirit of co-operation that I have through my years as congressman and senator.

"It is my earnest plea to my people of Mississippi to stand back of our great commander in chief and our national leaders in the one big task now confronting the nation, and that is winning this war at the very earliest possible moment. No man has ever had finer or truer friends than I and I am grateful to them beyond expression."

As soon as Senator Doney had extended formal congratulations to Mr. Eastland upon his election, Mr. Eastland telephoned Senator Doney, and the two promised each other to let "political by-gones be by-gones and immediately put their efforts toward a real campaign; that of contributing toward the nation's war effort. This, in our opinion, has been the outstanding phase of this campaign and shows the high quality of the two men, who were candidates for the highest office within the gift of the people of their state.

Senator Eastland issued the following statement:

"I am indeed happy. The victory was one of our friends, whose loyalty and untiring efforts never faltered. To them goes all the credit for the wonderful response as shown in the election returns. I am and shall ever be grateful to those who made my election possible.

"To those who supported me, I am thankful and appreciative of their efforts and work. To those who backed my opponent, I hold no brief. They voted as I suggested from the stump for the man they believed best qualified.

"I thank Senator Doney for his kind message of congratulations. He is a gentleman and has been a worthy opponent. I appreciate his offer of co-operation and shall avail myself of it.

"I am conscious of the responsibilities that the people have placed upon my shoulders in this grave hour. I shall do my best. I want the co-operation of all the people and will do my utmost to serve every part of Mississippi with justice to all of our citizens."

CIRCUIT COURT IN SESSION

Grand Jury Completes
Work in Two Days—Files
Report—Docket Light

The Circuit Court of Hancock County convened on Monday morning, Sept. 14th with the Honorable L. C. Corban, Circuit Judge presiding. The Honorable R. C. Cowan, District Attorney and Honorable R. L. Murphy, Court Reporter in attendance. The docket for this term of Court is extremely light and it is anticipated that the final adjournment will be had by Saturday of this week.

The Grand Jury was in session for two days with Mr. Henry Colson of Bay St. Louis as the foreman. Four indictments were returned by the Grand Jury.

A settlement was effected in the cases of O. M. Villere et al. and O. L. Villere vs. M. and A. Motor Transportation Co. These cases were tried at previous terms of this Court and had been appealed to the Supreme Court and were reversed. These cases emanated from a wreck in which Mrs. O. M. Villere met a tragic death and her son Oswald was painfully injured.

The Grand Jury report is as follows: Honorable L. C. Corban, Judge of the Circuit Court: We, the grand jury, empaneled at and for the regular September, 1942 term of the Circuit Court of Hancock County, beg to make this report:

We have been in session two days, have examined 12 witnesses and have returned 4 indictments. We find that the peace officers of the county are faithfully discharging their respective duties, and that there are very few violations of the criminal law within the county.

We have examined the courthouse and jail and find both of same to be in good condition and well kept. We have completed the business before us, and now ask that we be discharged.

Respectfully submitted,

HY COLSON.

Stationed at Corpus Christi, Texas.

Lieutenant John J. McDonald, U. S. N. R., who enlisted and left Bay St. Louis a short time ago, is at present stationed at the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi, Texas, in the capacity of Assistant to the Supply Officer.

Mr. McDonald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McDonald of this city and was educated at Bay High School, St. Stanislaus College and Webb School in Tennessee. He was connected with his father and brother C. C. McDonald in conducting the business known as W. A. McDonald & Sons and was prominent in the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, and is a member of the Gulfport Yacht Club and Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans.

Recently he married Miss Iva May Pilcher of Mexico, Missouri, and he and Mrs. McDonald have taken a residence in Corpus Christi while he is stationed there.

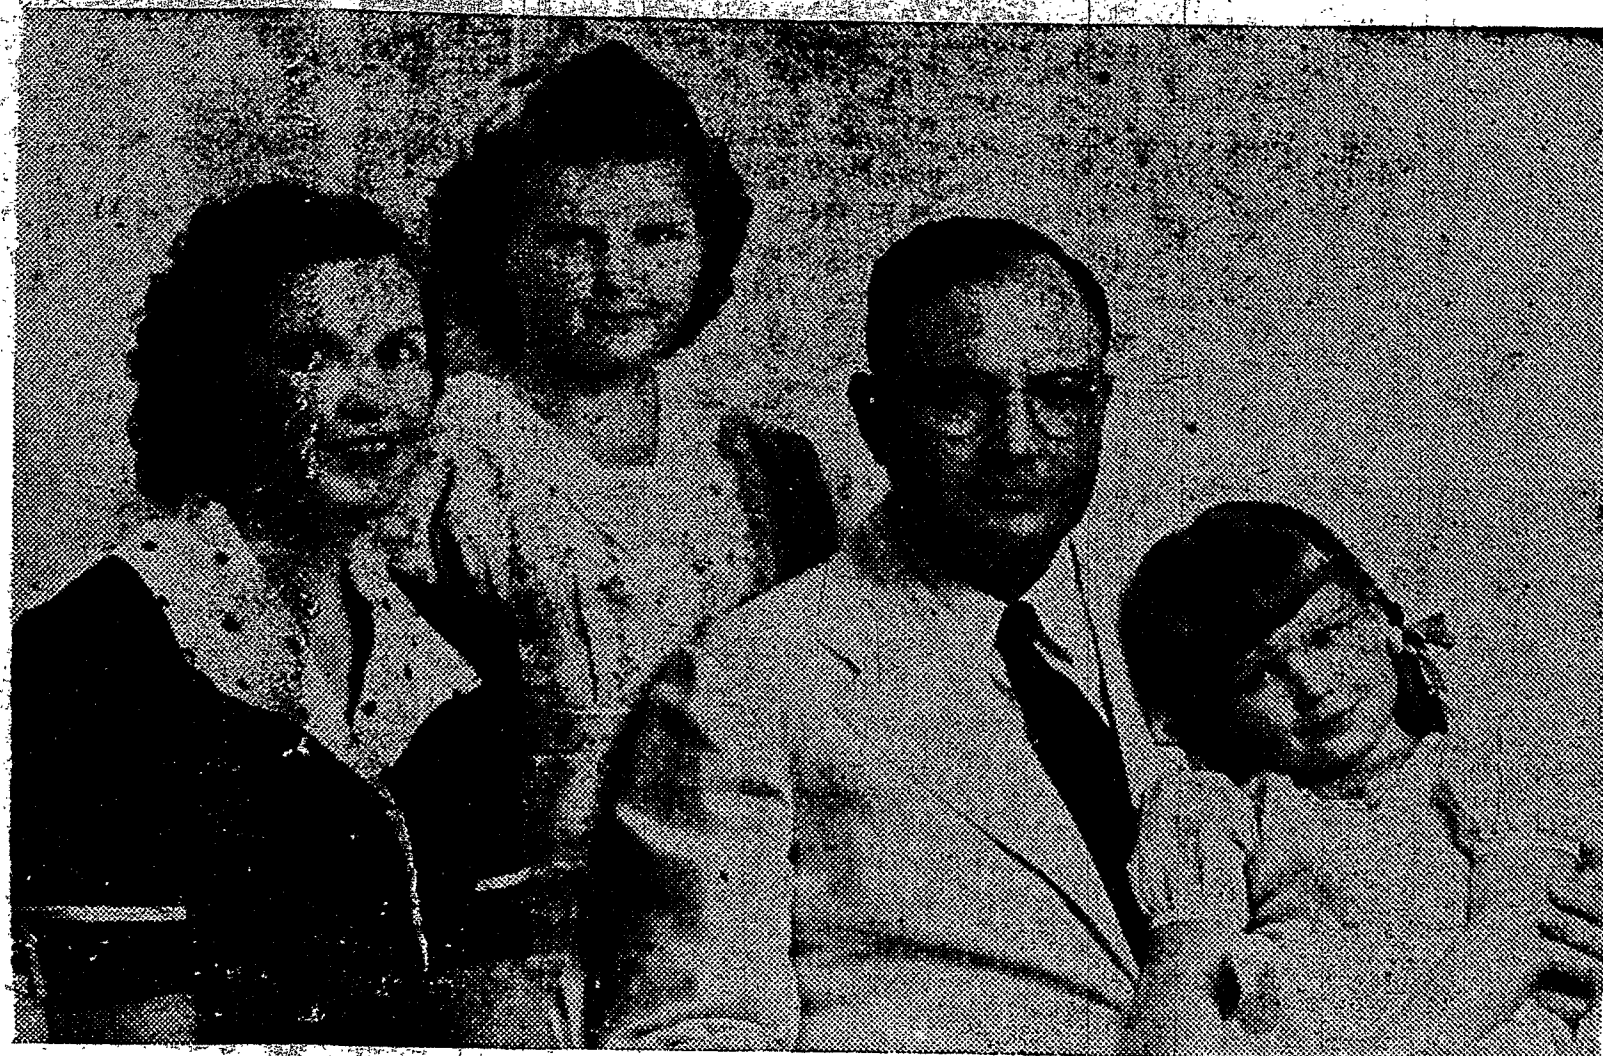

Children Make Records In Recent Newspaper Circulation Contest

Two industrious children who made records for themselves in a recent newspaper circulation contest for one of the large dailies in New Orleans, are Carmella Saucier, 12 year old girl, who won $50.00 when she received 26,960 votes, and Harold Saucier, who won fifth prize of $15.00 in the same contest.

Although a girl, Carmella pedaled her bicycle 12 miles each day delivering papers and this is an excellent record.

Both Carmella and Harold are the children of Mrs. Carmella Saucier, who is the local agent for a New Orleans newspaper.

Senator Elect James O. Eastland And His Family

COMPLETES BASIC TRAINING

PRIVATE LEROY THOMAS LUKE

Private Leroy Thomas Luke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Luke, has completed his basic training at the Quartermaster Replacement Center, Fort Frances E. Warren, Wyoming, and has been awarded a certificate of efficiency, having completed the prescribed course in electricity and has been transferred to Company D 79th Ordnance Battalion, Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Arkansas.

Mr. J. Gay, Director of Camp, in receipt of a letter from this young man thanking us for having sent him the Echo and telling us how much he has missed it since he was transferred to his new command and advising us of his new address.

Letter From Young Soldier in South Pacific Area

We are in receipt this week of a letter from Private Wallace A. Depree, member of Co. G, 145th Infantry, who is stationed somewhere in the Pacific-Ocean.

Wallace is the son of Mrs. Adolph Depree of Kilm and we are quoting his letter in full:

"Dear Mr. Favre: I received your most welcome letter and four copies of the Echo a few days ago.

I always enjoy getting letters from some one at home and enjoy reading the Echo, even though it is a month or so old at the time I get it. It is news to me and it is the one way that I can tell where my friends who are in the service are stationed.

All that I can say at present is that I have crossed the equator, and hope to meet some of the boys who came over before me.

I wish to thank you again for the Echo and hope to hear from you I remain,

Private Wallace A. Depree
Co. G, 145 Inf. A. P. O. 37,
c/o Postmaster, San Francisco,
California."

We deeply appreciated receiving this letter from Wallace. His letter carries the same thought that each letter we receive from the boys who are in the service of their country carries, particularly those overseas, that they love to hear from the folks back home.

This is a thought for the people in our community to write to the boys they know, whether they be relatives or not. If you have ever been away from home, you can readily realize the position of these boys. You are always happy to meet someone who knows some one you know, or to meet some one that you may know, or to hear from some one whom you may know, or from one who is close and dear to you.

RED CROSS RENDERS SERVICE

Liaison Office Between Home and Army—Able To Handle All Matters
Pertaining To Service
Men.

The Red Cross is so far reaching in its work that few realize how much service is rendered by this organization and especially to the servicemen and their families. It is a link-up between the home and the Army.

When service men are called home because of serious illness or death in their families a furlough may be arranged through the local Red Cross Chapter. Necessary extension of furloughs are also arranged by the chapter.

The Red Cross has a special responsibility to the ex-service man and his family. Authorized by law and executive order of the President, the Red Cross is one of the agencies recognized to assist the veteran and his family in presenting their claims to the Veterans Administration for pensions, Government insurance, hospitalization, burial allowance, or other Government benefits. During the period of filing and settlement of these claims, Home Service will provide the veteran with such social services as he and his family may need.

In addition to these services, Home Service under certain circumstances may meet civilian problems. Some years ago Red Cross policy in this connection was outlined in Chapters: "Where there is suffering and want from any cause and the fundamental needs are not being met, Chapters may participate in community plans for meeting the need."

Active Service Men, whether able-bodied, or undergoing hospital treatment, often have social problems concerning themselves and their families. The Red Cross, through its Field Directors and Chapters, is equipped to handle these problems which frequently affect a man's efficiency or retard his medical care. The Red Cross is looked to by the War and Navy Departments, the U. S. Marine Corps, and the U. S. Coast Guard for this service.

This and much more is the service rendered by Red Cross.

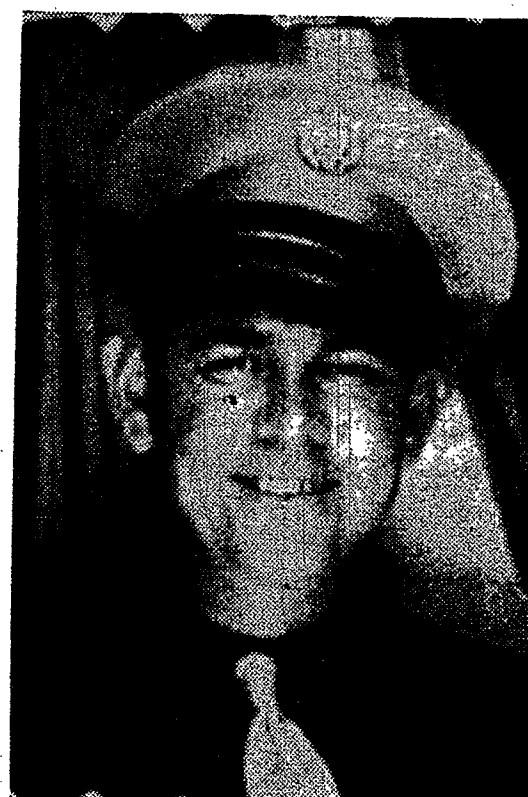

New Training School At Henderson Point

Lieutenant Commander S. A. Linder, district instructor in charge of the newly created training school by the War Shipping Administration which is located at Henderson Point and occupying the hotel main building and premises, formerly operated as Inn-by-the-Sea, is busily engaged in endeavoring to speed up training of the hundreds of cadets who will be sent to this point.

The War Shipping Administration has two such schools in this district, one at Henderson Point in which the beginners are trained and another in New Orleans to which the cadets are sent for their final instructions before being assigned to ships operated by the merchant marine.

The building is being arranged to accommodate the cadets who will be trained there and officers located at this training school at present are here temporarily.

WAVELAND BOY STATIONED IN JERSEY

CARL MILTON FAVRE

Carl Milton Favre, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jules Favre of Waveland, has completed his basic training and is now stationed in New Jersey. From all accounts, this young man will probably receive an assignment for overseas duty.

RED CROSS CONCERT SUCCESS

Keesler Field Boys Entertain Large Crowd—Concert Held To Raise Funds

By Father John Niemeyer

I always enjoy reading a certain account in the greatest source of history that the world has, the Bible. It is carried in the book of Psalms—No. 136—and it goes to say how the Israelites the chosen people of God lamented when they were captives in Babylon. How they hung their harps and musical instruments in trees and sat on the banks of the rivers of that country and wept. They said that they could not sing because they were in a strange land and were outside their normal setting. But this is certainly not the case with a group of our Keesler Field boys who last Friday the second time within two months gave the public of Bay St. Louis $5 musical concerts for $25 and $50. These men even though they may be in strange lands and performing under strange settings from what they are accustomed to, certainly thrilled the hearers of the crowd present to hear them, as was most visibly demonstrated by the numerous curtain calls that each respective artist received at the conclusion of his performance.

Corporals Harry Churchill and Del Arden—Boston Conservatory Pianist and Metropolitan Lyric Tenor are two most outstanding artists and it is a treat for even most critical listeners to hear them and the two click together in a wonderful understanding of each other's capabilities. Del Arden's rendition of a Medley of Serenades, particularly the serenade from the Student Prince was most beautifully done, it being a number particularly fitted to bring out qualities of a lyric tenor.

Corporal Harry Churchill's execution of Polonaise in A minor by Chopin well befitted the deft artistry of his fingers which took years to acquire.

A new and outstanding figure in the group Corporal Murmow, adagio dancer, was the great and unstinted admiration of the audience by doing his spear dance.

Corporal W. McMichael, Baritone, won a big hand from the house as soon as his bright smiling personality appeared on the stage. He seems to have a knack of changing his program at the last moment but there was one popular request number which he could not easily change "Shortnin Bread" for this he received quite an ovation.

The Master of Ceremonies, Corporal Chauncey Routh, was at the same time the first and latest feature to the evenings program having been introduced by Mr. Lucien Gex as the Master of Ceremonies. He announced each performer and number in their proper sequence for the benefit of the audience.

This concert was sponsored by the local Red Cross Committee and was a most praiseworthy way to raise money for the noble cause for which it will be used. Those under whose auspices it was given—Mrs. Louis Maunus, executive secretary Red Cross; Mrs. Leo Seal, Chairman volunteer service; Mrs. Stella Catching, and Miss Miriam Engman—are certainly to be thanked. A nice sum was realized which will go to the expense of filling kits for the boys.

CHANCING IT

THE sun has set over the Bay, twilight is gathering and as I sit on my porch drinking in the beauty of earth and sky the quiet spell which has held the neighborhood enthralled is suddenly broken and crowds of people seem to have come from the nowhere. Children of teen age, girls and their escorts, mothers and fathers and their young children, mothers with babes in their arms march along the side walk like modern pilgrims. Old couples trailing behind trying to hurry and be careful of their step too. Our lame neighbor and his stick. "Aunt Chloe" with her crutches. And bicycles—bicycles carrying one, bicycles with older boys and girls with a younger brother or sister as an extra passenger; young girls riding with young men. There are even different races represented in this great throng as they hurry along talking in excited tones.

As the greater number pass, headlights of cars flash as they are being parked along the edge of the street. On and on they come until the whole side of the street is lined with cars and the occupants alight hurried and excited too. My attempt to count the pedestrians has left me exhausted and it would be more futile to attempt to count the cars so I decide to follow the crowd and see what happens.

What is it? Only the weekly Bank Night at the neighborhood theater and I become rather anxious to see the results of this highly excitable attraction and also to know who will come away richer than his neighbor.

As I rise from my chair, a little black form moves stealthily towards me and I recognize the shining black face of little Zeke as he says in his most pitiful tone, "Please gimme a dime to go to the show." I answer as kindly as I can that I have no dimes for shows and that he is far too young to be out alone at night. If he is hungry, he may have food, I tell him, but he out argues me as he says, "All my family am there 'cept me and they're givin' away the money tonight." I weaken and the dime is given and he rushes off happy and confident, (and doubtless hungry) and as I watch his too small body disappear, I fear he will be trampled on in the crowd.

Nonchalantly I make my way to the beach, and watching them as they enter, each so sure of being the winner. I too become impatient to hear the result of this game of chance.

I enter the theater and wait to see the result of this play of the gods of fate. The picture "Loves Young Dream" holds the attention of the young romantics, but the older ones are tense with excitement and keyed to the breaking point. It is no concern of theirs whether the hero wins the heroine for it is very evident that they have come for a much more material reason.

When "The End" is flashed on the screen, the manager walks to the front and four judges are selected—one holds the register, one the key. A child is selected and blindfolded—the barrel containing the numbers is shaken and shaken—too often I think—then unlocked and the child's hand goes in and pulls out a number which all four judges examine. The audience as become almost breathless—one can hear pin drop—the manager calls 473 and the woman next to me gasps "Mine is 463." "Mrs. Malachée" is called. Deep silence still holds sway. Mrs. Malachée is not registered. She will not get the money!

I quietly slip out of the door and watch the faces of those leaving the building. Some indignantly protesting that it isn't fair; others laughing it off, and some with almost tragic despair written on their faces, and I wonder just what winning it meant to them and realize with a pull at my heart strings that for a great many it is not a laughing matter, but a desperate chance.

But my attention is arrested as the colored audience emerges from the theater all excited. "Liza Brown done won that money and she ain't here," says one and another, "My boy done gone on his bicycle to tell her," and I wait to see 200 pound Liza come panting up the street and enter the building amidst the acclamations of the crowd. But she turns to the group a different Liza Brown as it was Lijah Brown who held the number called and he is not registered and no one seems to know him.

As I return to the quiet of my home, I realize that after all it does not take a Bank Night for us to be chasing colored balloons which are either out of reach, or burst when we get them. Are we not all playing against great odds and trying to hold the winning ticket in this great game of Life?—May H. Edwards.

A PARTIAL DESCRIPTION OF A BOY

A FELLOW by the name of Herbert M. Smith is credited with the authorship of this partial description of a critter that may be found in many a home. Possibly you may be able to find one in yours:

"After a male baby has grown out of long clothes and has acquired pants and freckles and so much dirt that well-meaning relatives do not dare to kiss it between meals, it becomes a BOY.

"A boy is Nature's irrefutable answer to mankind's belief that there is no such thing as perpetual motion. A boy is a man minus pride, ambition, pretense, greed, and about one hundred and ten pounds. When he grows up he will trade romance, energy, bashfulness, warts, and a snag-proof stomach for these other possessions. But then a boy is usually getting the worst of it in some trade or another.

"The world is so full of boys that it is impossible to touch off a fire-cracker, strike up a band or pitch a ball game without collecting about a thousand of him. Boys are not ornamental, but they are useful. If it were not for boys the newspapers of this country would go undelivered and unread and a thousand circus elephants would die of thirst.

"Boys are useful in running errands. The zest with which a boy does an errand is only equaled by the spirit in which a twenty-year-old Missouri mule pulls a wagon loaded with bricks. With the aid of five or six adults, a boy can easily do the family errands.

"The boy is a natural spectator; watching things is his force. He watches parades, fires, fights, ball games, dogs, ice wagons, mud turtles, bumble bees, automobiles, trains, boats, hand organs and airplanes with equal fervor. But he will not watch the clock. The man who invents a clock that will stand upon its head and sing a song when it strikes, will confer an inestimable boon on millions of families whose boys are forever coming home to dinner along about supper time.

"Boys are not popular except with their parents, but they do have many fine points. One is their entire trustworthiness. You can absolutely rely on a boy, if you know what to rely on. Trust him to get into some kind of mischief every day, for instance, and he will not disappoint you.

"Boys are abstemious, eating only when awake. They are also very durable. A boy, if not washed too often and if kept in a cool, quiet place for a while after each accident, will survive broken bones, hornets, swimming holes, massacres, and nine helpings of pie at one sitting. If only some genius would invent a method of making a boy's clothes as durable as he is, this old world would be much happier for boy-raisers."

LET THE SOLDIER KNOW YOU CARE

THE armed services can feed a boy as perhaps he never was fed before; they can clothe him in sturdier clothes; they can realize physical resources he never knew he owned; they can equip him with the last word in arms. In short, they can give him everything—everything, that is, but a letter from home. The people at home will have to see to that.

There is nothing mawkish in any dwelling on the soldier's or sailor's need of words from loved ones. They are a very real factor in the sustenance of his spirit, in the making of the breaking of the morale he carries into the fight for our survival. Some there are who find letters hard to write; who are inarticulate with pen in hand. The effort ought to be made. The impulse to write is more important than ease and grace in the writing. And surely no one at home writes letters in circumstances as difficult as those in which many a man in service is obliged to compose a message to his people.

A letter, however, is part of the writer. Nothing but the voice can match it for projecting one's self across the world into another's heart. If it be one in uniform, let the letter be as little as can be about the war, but rather about the people at home and the scene to which he will return. Let it be good and cheerful news if it can be managed; but any news is better than none. No letter at all is worse by far than a poor report—at least the latter signifies that the soldier is not forgotten.

And there is no restriction on writing to a man in service outside one's family and circle. If you know or have heard of a lad who is likely to be overlooked, take it upon yourself to see that he does not spend the long night in wakefulness, wondering if there is anyone who cares. No candle sheds so bright a light, nor one so far through the world's darkness as the thought that accompanies a letter from home.—Jackson Daily News, Sept. 15, 1942.

ONE IDEAL—ONE FOE

From An English Paper—July 13th, 1942
Clipping forwarded by Lt. J. C. Roland, Jr., to His Father.

THE Americans in Britain are our friends, our allies. They are here to fight the common enemy. Their language is ours, their Democracy was hewn from the same rock. The vast majority have crossed the Atlantic for the first time. They have entered a strange new world of old buildings, "small" streets, "small" open spaces. At every turn the man from Wyoming finds things that are different; but he fights for the same ideal as the man from Widdcombe. We in Britain are the guests of these welcome comrades in the Battle of Right. Wherever these American comrades are encountered—in city, town or village, in railway train or bus—they are kind, helpful and considerate to them. Be good hosts. Avoid little frictions. Be tolerant, good humored. Do not believe certain silly tales, fostered and broadcast, very likely, by enemy agents. Friends together, we have but one goal, one ideal, one foe.

Now that school days are here again—give the children the right of way. Drive carefully. You may save a life by doing so.

Did you know that the Navy men are the best dressed military body in the world.

Over Six Million Dollars

With few exceptions executives in industry rose from the ranks of labor. Those who did not once work with their hands are rare; our business leaders came up from bench, forge and plow to take the helm and assume responsibility in management.

Under no other form of government has labor shared so large a portion of its toil as under the American system of free enterprise, a system now challenged in blood and tears by tyrants who would put labor into chains. So it has become just as necessary for management and labor to do their part for freedom as for our sons to serve on the firing line.

The dignity of labor, the freedom to work, the opportunity for individual advancement are all at stake in a contest that tries men's souls.

This is the hour of sacrifice, if ours is to continue to be "the land of the free." It is the time for a united front if ours is to endure as the "home of the brave." We shall hang together for the American system or we shall hang separately.

Miss Nettie Holloman returned to Hattiesburg last week to resume her position as principal of one of the grammar schools of that city. Her father, Mr. Touline Holloman, will spend the coming winter in the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Davis of Bay St. Louis.

Guests of Mrs. Hettie Mitchell during last week end were Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Hebert of New Orleans. Mrs. Hebert is the former Miss Inez Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem W. Weston and four children, of New Orleans, were visitors in the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Weston, on Sunday.

Mr. Warren E. Traub, who was a teacher in the school here for several years, is now a member of the faculty of Bay High School.

Week-end visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fountain were Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Arendale and daughter, Dorothy, of Hattiesburg. On Monday Miss Arendale entered Mississippi Southern College as a member of the Freshman class.

Miss Mae Jones has returned to her position as a member of the faculty in one of the city schools in Jackson. Her mother, Mrs. Jeff Jones, plans to remain in her home here during the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wright of New Orleans and Mrs. Mary Ellen Hardy of Marshall, Texas, were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Apple and son, David, of New Orleans, spent the week end with Mrs. Apple's mother, Mrs. D. L. Russ.

ON Monday night of this week an enthusiastic group of citizens of Wayland turned out to hear Lieut. Conradi, Lieut. Gronich and two sergeants lecture on several phases of gas and fire defense. Mr. Cox and Dr. Evans also spoke.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. McDonald awarded insignias to the following:

Staff—Mrs. E. C. Carrere, Mrs. Liddell Caffery, Mrs. Ed Orrie, Mrs. Alice Hepler and Rosemary Holderith.

Air Raid Warden, C. K. Herlihy.

Auxiliary fireman Liddell Caffery. These are in addition to those receiving insignias the night of the graduation in Bay St. Louis. There are many more who have taken partial training and will soon complete it. In addition to these there were quite a few people from Bay St. Louis, Motor Corps, Messengers and Auxiliary firemen who needed just these lectures to complete their training.

On Friday night, September 18th, at 8 o'clock at the Methodist Church this same type of meeting will be held with the same men giving the lectures. The O. C. D. is putting forth every effort to take this training to the county centers and it is to be hoped that the meetings will be well attended.

Devious Dodges To Circumvent Ceiling Prices Reported

Roused by reports of devious dodges to circumvent ceiling prices, particularly in the sale of drinks, State Price Attorney John H. Fox declared today that OPA is prepared to take drastic action, if necessary, to stem a rising tide of alleged "cheap chiseling" that is flooding OPA with complaints.

It started, he said, with the action of some dealers in forcing a customer to buy a sandwich in order to get a bottle of a popular soft drink. Now it has evolved into dozens of variations of the same "forced combination," all of which, Fox stated, are evasions of the regulation.

"The sandwich and soft drink combination is the most prevalent," he said. "Another is charging the customer five cents for the drink and a nickel, or less, for ice and a glass. He can't buy one without buying the other."

"Still another is charging five cents for the drink at, for instance, the fountain, but ten cents, if it is served at a table or in a booth."

"Some are outright violations, such as 15, 20 or as much as 25 cents for a bottle of beer that usually sells for ten cents."

"The customer can not be compelled to pay more, or buy in any combination other than was the case last March. Three weeks ago we made a public statement that 'forced combinations' were a violation because we believed that most instances were unintentional."

"However, we are prepared to take more stringent measures if that becomes necessary to break up the practice."

Fox added that complaints were not limited to drinks and food. His office also has received reports that some furniture dealers were compelling buyers of bedsprings to buy a complete bedstead in order to get the springs, and that a number of retailers were being forced by wholesalers to take quantities of unwanted or slow-moving commodities before they could buy items essential to the operation of their businesses.

Every one of the many residential rate revisions in our history has been designed to sell more household electric energy at lower average rates. The average price we have received for each household kilowatt hour sold has gone down and down, as shown in the chart. Despite the abnormal situation, we are today supplying your household service at no increase in rates—this notwithstanding many increased costs of operation and heavily increased tax payments to support the war effort. Only an active enterprising spirit which has increased use by rendering a worth while service, coupled with the utmost economy of operation, has made this possible.

Four-H Club Boys Report on Forestry and Chemurgic School

Two 4-H club boys from this County make reports to their sponsors on State Boys Forestry and Chemurgic School which was held at Roosevelt State Park in August.

Homer, Lee son of Mr. Alex Lee of Logtown who was sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club met with the club on Thursday of last week and made his report.

Homer thanked the Garden Club for sponsoring a boy this year and stated to the Garden Club that he had never had a more profitable week and hoped that the club would continue to sponsor a boy each year.

Otho Rester, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Otho Rester who was sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club will make his report at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club this week.

Mississippi tung growers are offered special financial assistance under the 1943 Agricultural Conservation program as a means of increasing tung oil production for war needs. According to a recent announcement from the State AAA Office, a special allowance of $5 for each acre in tung orchards in 1942 has been approved.

This amount, which is in addition to the regular soil-building allowance established for the farm, may be earned by growing and leaving on the land winter legumes, seeding crotalaria and Alyce clover, and applying phosphate, potash, lime and basic slag in connection with the growing of cover crops in tung orchards. Growers carrying out these practices in the fall of 1942 will qualify for the payments, as the 1943 conservation program runs from Sept. 1, 1942 to August 31, 1943.

The cover crop payment is $3 an acre when a good growth or at least two-thirds ton an acre of air-dry materials is left on the land or turned under and the payment is $1.50 an acre when less growth, but as much as one-third ton an acre of air-dry material is obtained. Payments for cover crops in tung orchards will be made only when an application of 50 pounds of 60-percent muriate of potash (or its equivalent) an acre is applied at or before the time of seeding.

The rates of payments for applying lime, phosphate and potash in connection with the planting of cover crops are $3 a ton for ground limestone (or its equivalent), $16 a ton for 20-percent superphosphate, $8 a ton for basic slag, and $32 a ton for muriate of potash.

Crotalaria, the leading summer legume is planted in tung orchards, and Alyce clover, a promising new summer legume for tung orchards, receive recognition under the 1943 program, as a payment of $1.50 an acre may be earned for seeding either of these legumes according to the specifications in the regulations. Those specifications require that crotalaria must be seeded not later than June 30, 1943, at a rate of not less than 20 pounds of seed an acre. Alyce clover must be seeded not later than July 15, 1943 at a rate of not less than 15 pounds an acre.

Crotalaria seeded in tung orchards must be fertilized as required for winter legumes unless immediately following a winter cover crop for which these fertilizer requirements have been met.

The Government is urging all tung growers to follow the recommendation of the Extension Service and the tung oil research staff of the Bureau of Plant Industry as a means of increasing the production of this critical war material. The

Infertile Eggs Makes Best Market Product

Farm flocks operators producing and marketing only infertile eggs this year are providing the best quality needed to supply growing wartime requirements.

Eggs have become a vitally important war time food. Millions of dozens have already been used this year, and millions of dozens more will be needed to fill war demands—Good eggs are needed to supply domestic requirements, needs of our armed forces and of our Allies in shell eggs, and frozen and dried eggs. Requirements call for about 4½ billion dozens in 1942.

Since infertile eggs are a loss to the farmer producing for market, his first care after the hatching season should be to see that no more are produced. Germination starts in fertile eggs at temperatures of 68 degrees, and once started, spoilage is very rapid. Successful poultry raisers keep roosters isolated from the hens after breeding. If the male birds are not needed they are sold. Young cockerels being produced for market or for breeding also are kept by themselves.

Production of fertile eggs throughout the year frequently results in actual losses to the farmer. Grown male birds consume almost 2 pounds of feed each week which must be added to the cost of the eggs. But this is not all. Fertile eggs account for about 5 percent of the farm loss in eggs produced in a year—eggs that are inedible when they reach the consumer and which reduce the price the farmer received for all eggs.

Egg production for quality is largely a question of good egg-laying stock care and proper feeding.

Rubber Situation

J. A. Reid, Atlanta, regional tire representative of the OPA, in addressing district groups of Extension, AAA and OPA personnel and others, at Jackson, Meridian, State College and Indianola, the week ending last Saturday, Sept. 5, presented facts of extreme importance to all. Mr. Reid said (quoting from his notes used at State College):

Don't get the idea that because you see stacks of finished tires or tubes in some large dealers premises that there is an ample supply of tires and tubes for every use. Every tire and tube that you see is counted and is part of the inventory that your Government has knowledge of and is the basis for controlled distribution. All these stocks put together fall far below the most essential needs of this country.

In consideration of the fact that the normal requirements of our nation's 30,000,000 cars is approximately 35,000,000 passenger tires yearly, the meagre stock on hand of some 6,000,000 odd passenger tires would not last over about 60 days without a definite method of rationing.

Pooling Use of Transportation

Well planned arrangements in charting the future course of farm transportation will automatically reduce the number of trucks now in general use except in peak seasons. Pooling is another name for neighborly cooperation.

Leading farm organizations should assist with definite plan. Key man in each community should make census and maintain inventory of every car, truck and piece of equipment, their condition, etc.

Through an organized plan you will accomplish elimination of semi-weekly and weekly trips with less than full loads. This can and must be accomplished.

Trips from town to farm with empty or partially loaded truck must be reduced to absolute minimum. Trips (should be made) by auto for visits or business contacts. Use of trucks for personal transportation (should be) eliminated. Cooperative hauling and transportation (is necessary) in every community.

Pooling arrangements (may be) made by establishing various private carriers to cover specified routes for collection and deliveries.

How To Save Tires

1. Keep tires properly inflated.
2. Have wheels aligned; cross-switch tires occasionally.
3. Remember that oils, grease, barnyard acids and hot sunshine are hard on tires.
4. Don't drive over 30 to 40 miles an hour, speed wears out tires.
5. Inspect tires for cracks and cuts, and make repairs immediately.
6. Make sure your space is properly inflated and use it. Carry a jack, air pump, and patch kit.
7. Bad weather driving is hard on tires. Wet roads, ice, and mud tend to cause spinning and skidding.
8. Thought for the future: Don't forget possibility of being forced to use horses and wagon for some purposes at some time in the future. On a rainy day repair and oil old harness; one world war was won that way.

Dots and Dashes From The Pacific Coast.

August 9th, 1942—We arrived Saturday, August 1st in Balboa house is a nice one at 406 E. Street, quite close to the Dandavis Dance Hall. Bob Crosby and his orchestra are playing there now. The front windows are painted black. The lamp posts also, with a small open space towards land. This is in Balboa too. In fact, where a light shows a dim out is required. August 20 this is the final day. Buses leave Balboa for Newport Beach, Huntington Beach and Los Angeles at regular hours. The Laguna Bus goes to Santa Ana, and returns; crossing by ferry to Balboa. The beaches are wide but few pretty shells unless storms. It rained a little here, the Bay pavements were black with sand. A large boat in the Balboa Pavilion had an outlet to keep water out—it sounded just like rain. The soldiers patronize the Laguna Beach Bus. I saw a crowd of them, all in light suits. The large wharves at boarded off at the end—one had sign: "Armed man inside." Lots of sea gulls around; on the beaches and on the wharves.

Dances here every night except Monday. On Monday the soldiers seize the opportunity to drill on the beach. I saw some sailors drilling too. Everything is quiet here because of the dim out. The drug stores are obliged to have the shutters half down.

Only two theaters, one at Balboa and the other at Lido Isle. Lido Isle has two matinees, the other none.

There's an Episcopal Church here now. The Rector is Dr. Hattell formerly of Santa Ana. They hope to build one.

The market and shops are fine. Also the Fun Zone, by the bathing beach, on the bay. They are close together. There are Penny Arcades, restaurants, one of Bamboo, with palms growing thru the roof and natives on top. A large Ferris Wheel, a Merry-Go-Round, with lions, tigers, horses accompanied by merry music, too. Prize games, photos, cotton candy, candied apples, etc.

The ground around the United States Flag is unplanted. The plaza is paved with red tiles, where Orange County represent. The Harbor is fine. The water coming thru the jetty into Balboa Bay by Newport again under the bridge to the Ocean again.

Went bathing for first time in the Bay on August 10. I used a stick, an managed to get in plenty water. It was right in front of the diving platform. I have been often since there. It has done my arm good. There are a lot of Children around, with swimming planks. My arm was hurt last April when I fell down.

It was the night of the Bataan Battle. Anyway I struck the shoulder and the arm went limp. The upper arm has a slight fracture.

The Peninsular Point is another Division. There are nice homes there. There is headquarters for sailors. Another large one near the Balboa ferry. The place which is the Government grounds is where the Chief Coast Guard lives and is close to Balboa.

The friends with whom I am staying, have children, vacation at the Dockhead Airplane Factory, in Burbank, California. Also two nice little grandchildren, who enjoy the pleasure of the beach. Also visitors to cheer you up.

We had a surprise yesterday. The three Gibson girls, really appeared. And guess, they put black stuff behind all the front window curtains, even the small ones. Solution: They own the house, live in Los Angeles and decided as Thursday 20th was tomorrow they had better be doing something. They stayed all day sewing on the black stuff. And it is dark. They older ones are teachers. The two younger ones are fine. L. Los Angeles schools. The one that drove the auto said she had traveled in Japan.

Handle Eggs For Higher Profits

Most of the losses in eggs through careless handling can be avoided with little additional effort on the part of producers and handlers. The term "careless handling" covers many evils and many sources of loss to farm flocks owners. Poultry specialists agree that proper handling of eggs begins with gathering them from the nest. Gathering at least three times daily results in cleaner eggs and in better ones. Eggs allowed to accumulate in the nest for 2 or 3 days suffer a loss in quality because of high temperatures. This loss in quality is frequently as great as the loss in 2 or 3 weeks when kept in a cooler. Proper cooling is of utmost importance. Eggs gathered in wire baskets permit the circulation of air and should be left in the cooling room overnight before they are packed in cartons or cases. Eggs must be packed small end down, for proper shipping and stored in the cooler until they are ready for market to maintain the natural quality. Use of clean containers, cases and packing materials add greatly to the marketing appearance of the eggs and helps prevent the growth of mold. Careful handling on the farm and in transit means more eggs for all wartime needs. Millions of dozens are being bought each week by the A.M.A. in the form of dried eggs for shipment to our Allies overseas. Millions more are being used by our armed forces and in domestic consumption both in the form of shell and dried eggs. All these wartime needs make the careful handling of every egg important.

Store Your Summer Clothes Well

A few falling leaves and a cool breeze in the air means it will soon be time to put summer clothes away for a rest period. This putting away should be more carefully done this year than ever before in the lifetime of the present generation. Care now means better looking clothes next summer wear as well. If summer clothes are mended now they will be ready for use when unpacked next spring. It will probably be easier to find the buttons to sew on now and the craps for patching might get into a quilt this winter if left in the scrapbag. These summer clothes must be clean when stored or else ugly circles of brown will be the permanent stain. If washable, leave out the starch and press not as one likes. Rayons should be very carefully washed or else dry cleaned. Wash your bathing suit in warm suds, rinse and dry thoroughly, and store in a box. If it is wool or partly wool, put it in crystals, balls, or flakes with it and then wrap the box well or seal it. Wash and dry your bathing cap and put a little talcum powder or corn starch inside it before storing. Put it away in a dark cool place.

ORTIE THEATER PRESENTS "HARMON OF MICHIGAN"

Sunday and Monday With Tom Harmon and Anita Louise

Universally hailed as the greatest grid star of them all, husky Tom Harmon, swivel-hipped football idol of America, punts and passes his way into the Ortie Theater on Sunday and Monday in Columbia's exciting new film, "Harmon of Michigan." Ably supported by such football greats as Forest Evashevski, also of Michigan, Nick Lukats, of Notre Dame, Ambrose Schindler, of U. S. C., and many others, Harmon is said to provide even more thrills on the screen than he ever brought to the playing field.

Hollywood reports that in spite of its line-up of football heroes, "Harmon of Michigan" is not just another football picture. Filmed against a stirring background of collegiate life, the story dramatically deals with an All-American star after his graduation. The way in which he meets the propositions offered him by tin horn gamblers and big time sports promoters, furnishes the basis for what is said to be a thrilled-packed, heart-warming yarn certain to meet with the approval of motion picture fans everywhere.

The film has been hailed for its breath-taking opening scenes, which show some of the most exciting moments from Harmon's final games for Michigan. It then goes on to the star's graduation and marriage to lovely Anita Louise, who plays the feminine lead. Refusing all offers to play professional football, the athlete accepts an assistant coaching job at a small college and immediately proves his worth by turning out a truly fine eleven.

However, this success goes to his head and Harmon soon accepts an offer to coach at a large school. Completely transformed by the desire to get into the big money, the once-idealistic youth teaches his boys how to work illegal power plays that brings lots of victories, but also cause many injuries. At the height of his fame, Harmon finally realizes he is doing irreparable harm to the game he loves, and goes back to coaching at a small Pacific Coast School.

"WINGS FOR THE EAGLE" AT A. & G. THEATER SUN-MON.

Warners' "Wings For The Eagle" ranks as one of the best pictures to date of the national defense and victory efforts.

Filmed with the full and evident cooperation of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., the picture, whose exploitation should appeal to every defense and victory plant worker and to every other citizen is alive with human interest. Its story is as intimate as the man's next door and its scope is as wide as America itself. Ann Sheridan, Dennis Morgan, Jack Carson and George Tobias are the principal characters in the drama, which is a down to earth exposition of the trials and tribulations of married life spiced with the problems confronting defense workers now and in the future. Supporting them are included Russell Arms, Don DeFore, Tom Fadden, John Ridgely, Frank Wilcox, George Meeker, Fay Helm, Billy Curtis, Emory Parnell and Edgar Dearing.

Exhibitors may point out that this is the first, and possibly the last film to show interior scenes of the gigantic Lockheed plant in operation. The authenticity of the background, plus the competent delineation of the characters, makes for entertainment of an informational nature, yet without documentary dryness.

* Plot and story are there, with the conflict between two men for the wife of another the main narrative line. All three principals work at Lockheed and the picture has the two men (Morgan and Carson) vying for the affection of Miss Sheridan, who is married to Carson. As a sidelight, the character portrayed by Morgan is anxious to become an essential defense plant worker in order to escape the draft. All turns out well in the end, however, when events at Pearl Harbor influence him to change his mind and enlist.

Shown to the trade press at Warners' Hollywood Theater, where a mixed audience wildly applauded the film. Vance King.

CABINET MEMBER TO VISIT STATE

Secretary of Agriculture to Speak to Nation From Tylertown

Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture, will address the Nation in connection with a "Food for Freedom Thanksgiving Harvest Observance" program from Tylertown, Mississippi on Saturday, October 3, according to a statement released today by George W. Godwin, Jackson, President of the Mississippi Press Association.

Secretary Wickard's visit to Mississippi will be sponsored by the Mississippi Press Association, with the Tylertown (Miss.) Times as host newspaper. Tylertown was selected out of all of the rural communities in the Nation as the logical place from which to launch the U. S. Department of Agriculture program because of the outstanding service rendered the Food for Freedom program by Lester Williams, publisher of the Tylertown Times, who received the National Editorial Association's First Award in connection with his 1942 Food for Freedom edition.

Mr. Williams recently conceived the idea that it would be appropriate for the Secretary of Agriculture to ask a grateful Nation to join, as did their forefathers in 1821, in humble Thanksgiving to God for the bountiful harvest to be gathered this Fall from the broad acres of Free America. He felt that it was highly appropriate that full recognition be given the farmers of America for their outstanding contribution to the war effort. Mr. Williams made a special trip to Washington to present this idea to the Secretary of Agriculture who wholeheartedly accepted his idea and program.

The Food for Freedom Thanksgiving Harvest Observance program which will be inaugurated to the Nation from Mississippi by Secretary Wickard, will extend from October 3 through December 12 and will focus attention upon the outstanding success of the 1942 Food for Freedom Program and the contribution of the American farmers through this program to the war effort. It will inform American farmers and the public as to the national production quotas necessary next year if the food and fibre crops of the United States are to be met with the increasing demands of this nation and its allies. It will cause the public to recognize that the success of the 1942 Food for Freedom Program is due to complete cooperation on the part of our farm groups, plus the blessings of Divine Providence. This program will inaugurate, through a Thanksgiving Harvest Observance, a stimulating spiritual force throughout the entire nation that will contribute to morale and strengthen the faith of all Americans in the America of Today and Tomorrow.

The farmers of Walthall and adjoining South Mississippi Counties and Louisiana Parishes plan an old-fashioned dinner on-the-ground reception for Secretary Wickard. His address on this occasion will be broadcast from Coast-to-Coast over the National Farm and Home Hour. A further part of the USDA's program will be the stimulation of special informative editions of newspapers of every community in the United States so that the public may know the farmers' contributions to the war effort this year and may realize the heavy responsibility placed upon the farmer to produce the food for freedom necessary for the year ahead.

President Godwin left Jackson Saturday night to spend a week or ten-days collaborating with Department of Agriculture officials in making the program adaptable to the newspapers of the Nation.

WITH THE FISHERMEN AND OTHER SPORTS

By KANCHU KETCHER

FISH have been biting somewhat better this past week. However the tide is not just right yet.

Several nice catches were made of fresh water fish, speckles and red fish.

Fred Wright, Sr., former resident but now of Gulfport, caught a nice string Saturday afternoon on Jordan River. Fred is an old-timer at the game and usually gets his share.

Johnny Scaife while fishing with a party of friends at the mouth of Pearl River caught a 10 pound red fish. Johnny says he only goes after the big ones.

Mr. O'Neal of Gulfport caught a four-pound green trout among others at Logtown, Sunday afternoon.

Speaking of golf, our friend Oscar Bragg won the first flight in the Labor Day Tournament held at the Great Southern Golf Course, netting him the prize of $25.00 War Stamps. Oscar is a good golfer and gives a good account of himself in all tournaments he enters. C. C. McDonald and Bob Genin were other local golfers who participated in the tournament.

Jimmie McConnell and son again report a good catch of green trout and perch around the Bayou La-Croix section.

Another sports item: "Ming Toy" the Chow dog of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown of Logtown, hit the jack pot last week when she became the mother of seven puppies. Four boys and three girls. They are beautiful puppies and Mrs. Brown says she is very proud of Ming Toy.

Cliff Ferrel was seen fishing up Pearl River Saturday afternoon. Cliff says he caught a few.

Hunting season will be starting soon—better get that hunting license now and clean up the old gun. According to those who know there will be plenty of game this season. More on this later.

A good thing for those who try to land a fish in a scoop net is to put the net under water before trying to land the fish. Many fish are lost by being struck by the net by an inexperienced paddler. Take your time in landing a fish. It doesn't pay to get excited. Handle the fish carefully, keeping a tight line on him, and he will usually be put in the well.

NEEDED: Good paddlers. If you know how to paddle a boat and want to make a little extra change get in touch with local fly fisherman.

MISSISSIPPI STATE CLOSES CONTRACT WITH GOVERNMENT

To Furnish Facilities For Training of Personnel Of Officer Candidates

Mississippi State College has closed a contract with the United States Government to furnish facilities for the training of personnel of Officer Candidate School Number 4, Army Administration School, of not less than 250 and not more than 850 individuals, including overhead personnel.

The contract with the Government was made by the State Board of Trustees of Institutions of Higher Learning in Mississippi, acting through a committee of which the Honorable Forrest Cooper of Indianola was chairman. The contract was let on a year-to-year basis, subject to renewal for the duration of the war and six months thereafter.

Upon successful completion of the courses, which are to run for a period of three months, candidates will be commissioned as Second Lieutenants in the Adjutant General Department. The first contingent of candidates will report to the College between October 12 and 20.

Facilities of the College involved are dormitory accommodations, classrooms, office facilities, storage space, dining facilities, infirmary space, drill and physical exercise space, recreation facilities, and assembly hall facilities.

In making the contract, Mississippi State College is unequivocally committed to contribute its part in winning the war, and to this end its unused facilities will be fully utilized and devoted to the war effort. In the present crisis there can be no question as to what would have the right of way.

Space in the dormitory system has already been reserved for students for the 1942-43 session which opens September 25-26, and the officer training program does not mean that the College will fail in any way to care for its regular students.

Sugar Rationing

Sugar sellers were warned today by the Office of Price Administration that rationing stamps and certificates cannot be used after their expiration date. However, as a necessary auditing step, they must be kept or filed with Local War Price and Rationing Boards as a part of inventory records. It is preferred that invalid stamps and certificates be filed with the Local War Price and Rationing Boards.

The announcement was made to cut off continuing applications to local boards by sellers who have past-due ration stamps and certificates and wish to exchange them for others that could be used to get sugar. There is no provision for any such exchanges, OPA said. However, it was pointed out that the lapsed vouchers do have an important bookkeeping value.

Those who have held certificates or coupons beyond the time when they could be used for stock replenishment will have physical inventories of sugar that are smaller than the supplies they had when rationing began, OPA explained. Unless they have the lapsed certificates to account for the deficiency, or have turned them in to the local board for filing with their records, audit by rationing authorities will indicate sale of more than the rationed amounts.

Physical inventory plus stamps and certificates, whether expired or not, should at all times total as much as the original physical inventory, the OPA said.

Enrollment at Valena C. Jones Colored School Around 200

The enrollment in the Valena C. Jones School for colored children this year is approximately 200 at the end of the first week of school, according to a statement given by Professor S. J. Ingram.

With free school books issued by the state and with so many persons employed in defense work at present, the enrollment is somewhat greater in that the colored population is better able to finance the education of their children, although so many of the older boys have left to enlist in different branches of service and to seek work in defense projects.

RECENT WEDDING OF MISS LILLIAN ALICE SICK

A pretty although quiet wedding performed lately was that of Miss Lillian Alice Sick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Sick, and Mr. Robert C. Givens, son of Mrs. Antoinette Polson and the late Roger Givens.

The wedding took place on Thursday, September 10th at 9 A. M. at the rectory of Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

Miss Sick was becomingly attired in a travelling suit of olive green with brown hat and accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of white gladioli, while her attendant, Miss Vivian Givens, chose a fall model of black with which she wore red accessories. Mr. Alton Sick acted as best man in the wedding.

After the ceremony, a small and informal reception for only members of the immediate family was held at the home of the bride's parents on Boardman Ave. The Sick home was attractively decorated with white gladioli and after the bride cut her wedding cake, the young couple departed via Louisville & Nashville Railroad for a honeymoon spent in Pensacola, Florida, and upon their return took up residence in an apartment at 326 Carroll avenue.

Mr. Givens is employed by Gilmore's Standard Oil Station and Mrs. Givens will continue in her position with the Southern Bell Telephone Company here.

Laird of Maplewood, N. J., which was celebrated at 7 o'clock in the evening in the home of the bride's parents on Palmer avenue. The ceremony, which took place in the drawing room of the home before an improvised altar, was performed by the Rev. Dr. Warwick Aiken, rector of Trinity Episcopal church at Pass Christian, Miss. Miss Keen, given in marriage by her father, had as her attendants her sisters, Mrs. John Stephen Arthur, wife of Lieutenant Arthur, United States Army, as matron of honor, Miss Martha Keen as maid of honor, and Miss Jane Keen as bridesmaid.

Mr. Laird had as his best man and only attendant, Mr. Richard Hammerstrom. The ceremony was attended only by near relatives and intimate friends but the reception following a number of additional guests were entertained.

FAMILY DINNER ENJOYED

At the old homestead of the Hava family on the Waveland beach, a family dinner was enjoyed on Labor Day with the sons of the late Dr. Hava and their wives and children and a few close friends.

Enjoying the day and bidding farewell to Adrian Hava, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hava, who left the day after to enlist as a naval cadet and begin his basic training at Northwestern Junior College at Monroe, La., were the following: Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hava and their children, Betty and Frank, Jr., and Mrs. Walter Hava and daughter, June, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hava and sons, Adrian, and Clarence, Jr.; Miss Dolores Hava and Mr. Henry Hava; and Dr. Frank Hava's guests, Mr. and Mrs. Fred White and son, Fred, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lacoste, the latter all of New Orleans.

On the grounds of the Hava property, Dr. Frank Hava and Dr. Walter Hava each maintain a summer home, and two other residences are used as rental property, both excellent edifices which are assisting greatly in the housing shortage in this section.

A great many persons hereabout remember Dr. Hava, the deceased father of this family, who summered there for so many years with his family and later resided permanently and commuted to New Orleans.
